

NEW!

Derbyshire Health and Life Sciences Academy at UTC Derby Pride Park

Preparing young people aged 13-19 for exciting careers in health and social care and life sciences.

Supported by Joined Up Care Derbyshire, which brings together health and social care organisations across Derbyshire, including the four Derbyshire NHS Foundation Trusts, together with the University of Derby.

Are you inspired by the healthcare professionals on the front line helping to save lives in hospitals and care homes, and by the medical scientists who are finding new ways to fight the Coronavirus all over the world? Has it made you think you'd like a career in health or life sciences?

Now you can get an opportunity to see what healthcare professionals do and begin to develop the skills you will need for a wide range of opportunities in the health, life sciences, wellbeing and social care sectors – over 350 different roles across Derbyshire alone.

About UTC Derby Pride Park

University Technical Colleges (UTCs) are government-funded academies offering careers-focused education for 13-19-year-olds, working with employers and universities. UTCs provide a rounded education specialising in STEM subjects (Science, Technology, Engineering, Maths) to develop the professional, personal and technical skills that employers want. UTC Derby is part of one of the foremost UTC Trusts in the country – The Sheffield UTC Academy Trust – and has exceptional relationships with top employers in Derby and the surrounding region.
