

Careers Newsletter Quiz

Edition #1

Question 1

What is UCAS Clearing, and during which dates can students apply for courses using Clearing in 2026?

Question 2

Who is giving a talk on entrepreneurship for students, and when is it scheduled?

Question 3

What is the role of an Editorial Assistant, and what key skills are required for this job?

Question 4

What was the UK employment rate for people aged 16 to 64 years in August to October 2025?

Question 5

Name one upcoming webinar or event mentioned in the newsletter and describe its focus.

Question 6

Where can students find nearly 800 scholarships, bursaries, and grants all in one place?

Question 7

What is the theme for National Apprenticeship Week 2026, and when does it take place?

Question 8

List one entry route into policing with Derbyshire Police.

Question 9

What is the BBC's mission and purpose as described in the newsletter?

Question 10

What opportunities and support does Falmouth University offer to its students?

Answers

1. UCAS Clearing is how universities and colleges fill any remaining places on their courses. For 2026, you can apply via Clearing from 2 July to 19 October.
2. Simon Arora (former CEO of B&M) — talk scheduled for 29 January, 10:00–11:00.
3. Editorial assistants help produce and publish content; key skills include excellent grammar, communication, attention to detail, commercial awareness, and time management.
4. 74.9% employment rate for ages 16–64 (Aug–Oct 2025).
5. Examples include: ‘Behind the Scenes: Welcome to the Newsroom’ (4 Feb, 10:00–10:45) or ‘Preventing Bullying in Schools’ (21 Jan, 16:30–17:15).
6. On the UCAS website’s scholarships and bursaries search tool (nearly 800 listings).
7. Theme: ‘Skills for Life’; dates: 9–15 February 2026.
8. Police Constable Degree Apprenticeship (PCDA) or Police Constable Entry Programme (PCEP).
9. To serve audiences in the UK and globally with high-quality, impartial output and services that inform, educate and entertain.
10. Falmouth offers freedom, support, and real-world opportunities to challenge conventions and push creative boundaries.